THE ROCKPORT SHORE.

ANNISQUAM.

EASTERN POINT this year is having its share of the joy that is spreading all over the country—the joy of welcoming its sons and brothers home from No Man's Land.

And besides the personal share of cheer in every family there is a community note of greeting to their representative heroes, and especially to the two who are so well known and well liked, Harry Sleeper and A. Piatt Andrew

The summer season at Magnolia shows every sign of being the most prosperous in the history of the resort. Almost every house is occupied and the bookings at the hotel indicate that there will be a full house well into September.

Among those who have leased cottages for the season are Mrs. A. Rex Flinn of Boston, who has taken the Ned Lyeett cottage on Norman avenue; Mrs. A. F. Williams of St. Louis, who is domiciled in the Underwood cottage on Shore road; Mr. William F. Barry of Boston, a new-

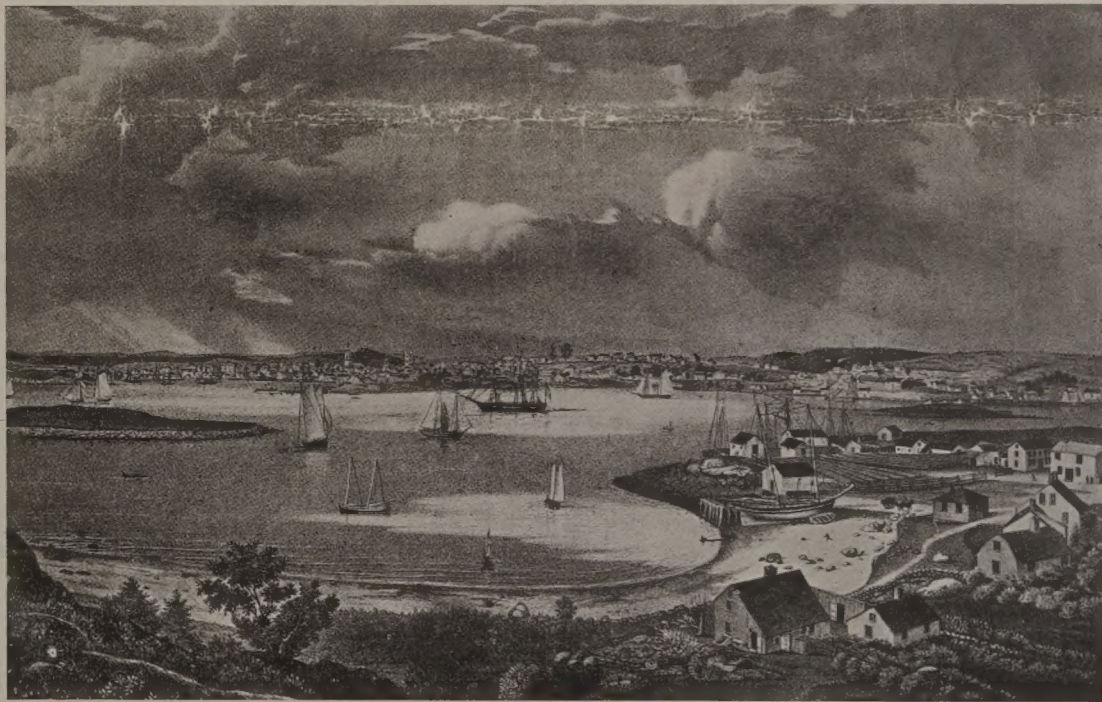

Rockport is in for a banner season. Cottage rentals and hotel reservations have pretty nearly exhausted all that was offering in the way of accommodation for the summer resort element.

The Rockport Country Club was opened early in the spring and its links, among the finest on the shore, are in first class condition. A series of socials at the club house and tournaments is planned and the season promises well from every standpoint.

The hotels opened early. The Edward at Pigeon Cove, under the management of Like other sections of the Cape, Annisquam will have a record-breaking season. The greater part of the cottages and residences were leased early and the hotel reservations have assured a successful patronage.

As in the past the social activities will center at the Yacht Clubhouse, where the usual schedule of races and Saturday afternoon

These two went out for hard work and came home with glory.

Mr. A. Piatt Andrew returns with the Croix De Guerre, The Legion of Honor, and the Distinguished Service Medal. To him must go the everlasting credit of organizing and carrying on our effective American Ambulance Service in France, in spite of the tangible dangers and the intangible discouragements.

In order to provide necessary funds, which are the ammunition of such an undertaking, Harry Sleeper labored unrelentingly at this end until the wheels were greased to run with the necessary smoothness.

When his task on this side was well accomplished he seized the coveted chance of going overseas, where for his services he was awarded the Legion of Honor.

The Cottage Dwellers of Eastern Point have always taken a very particular interest in the condition of their roads. They like to keep these in just the right degree of shock absorption from their point of view.

comer to Magnolia, who will be in the John Wilkins cottage on Fuller street; Mr. Charles Taylor of Boston, who has leased the Adams cottage on Lexington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lockwood of Washington, who last year occupied the Foster cottage at Fresh Water Cove, have this season taken the Sampson cottage on Summer street. The Lockwoods have been coming to Magnolia for many seasons.

The North Shore Swimming Pool opened the past week for the season. Many innovations this year are planned and a gay season is assured its members. An orchestra, omitted last year on account of the war, has been secured, and card parties, dances and water sports will form the nucleus for the summer's entertainment.

The Oceanside Hotel, the largest hostelry on the Shore, opened its doors last week for another season. Among those registered at this popular hotel are: Mr. and Mrs. James M. Greene of Washington, D.

Mrs. Wilson and Miss Ella Maguire, has the most satisfactory advance booking in its history. The Ocean View reports the standing room only sign. The Breakers, the Headlands, Manning House, the Turks Head Inn, Glen Acre, Granite Shore and Clifford House all will share in the prosperity which is coming to the summer resorts this season.

Thomas E. Day, who conducted the Beachcroft and other hotels at East Gloucester for some years and has been recently connected with several Boston hostleries, is this season the clerk at the Ocean View House.

C. L. Higgins and family of Springfield have the Alice York cottage on Sandaba avenue.

Miss Laura A. Knott, principal of Bradford Academy, has opened her cottage on the Headlands.

Miss Louise Kinney of New York, who several years ago purchased "Kibblecombe" of Rev. Mr. Kellner, has arrived for the season.

teas and Saturday night dances will be in order through the season.

One of the few "places" at Annisquam is that of the late Mrs. Adele R. Lingard, "The Pines," affording one of the finest views on the North Shore. The grounds, with their shrubbery and foliage, never looked more attractive and reflect the artistry of the late mistress of the place, who planned the landscape scheme. It has been taken this year by Lewis W. Mustard and family of Brookline. Miss Olga Lingard has, during June, occupied the Highland cottage on the estate. She will spend the summer at Sugar Hill and other places in the mountains. Prior to her going she had as guests Lieut. Commander and Mrs. Eaton of the Chatham aviation station and Miss Frances Wintringham, an artist of New York, who accompanies her on her mountain sojourn.

Mrs. J. Bertram Williams and family of Channing place, Cambridge, are at Hermit Ledge cottage.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its twenty-third consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts.

THE CAPE ANN SHORE.

This publication is entering upon its 23rd season. It has become a fixture with many of the summer colony among whom it has many friends and well wishers. The advertisers who use its columns are those who believe that the summer colony is an appreciable factor in the prosperity of the community. These should be given the precedence of your patronage. After an absence of two years its conductor has returned and will give the paper his individual attention.

PEACE AND PROSPERITY!

Never in its history has Cape Ann experienced the prosperity in every department of the summer resort field as now. Early in the spring the demand for residences of all types and the advance bookings at the hotels gave ample evidence of this.

The Cape weathered the War and the U-boat scare very well. Inevitably an appreciable number were frightened away, especially after the appearance of the enemy subs off the New England coast, but, on the whole, those who make this section their home during the heated term refused to be stampeded from their favorite resorts.

The next ten years will witness the most prosperous era in the resort history of Cape Ann! With the signing of the peace treaty, economic conditions all over the world will return to normal. The wave of industrial discontent will wane perceptibly, labor conditions will be established and confidence in the maintenance of law and order will be strengthened. The result will be the greatest building boom and expansion in summer realty in the history of the North Shore.

Newspaper statisticians say that the War made some 17,000 additional millionaires in this country. The greater part of these people gravitate naturally to those resort sections to which their wealth will give them an entrance. Cape Ann will get its share. The hosts of the well-to-do who have been enriched by the war will also be attracted to the seashore and will buy land and build summer homes. The assessed valuation of Gloucester after nearly three centuries of existence is nearly $30,000,000. This marks an increase during the past 20 years of nearly $15,000,000, practically all of which is traceable to increased valuation of summer property. We make the prediction that in the next 15 years the valuation of the city will be nearer $50,000,000 than $40,000,000 and that it will practically all be derived from the summer resort localities.

History repeats itself. Prior to the Civil War the summer residents of this city comprised perhaps less than 200 people. With the war came the making of fortunes, as fortunes went in that day, and from that time forward persons of wealth in increasing numbers made the North Shore their permanent summer home.

The summer hotel dates from this era; an evolution from the boarding houses of the natives in which sojourners were accommodated.

In 1914 the population of Cape Ann (Gloucester and Rockport) was rising 30,000. The estimate of post office and newspaper authorities gave an additional 30,000 as summer residents.

It is well within the bounds of prophecy and probability, that this figure will be doubled within 20 years. We are the creditor nation of the world, made so literally by the fortunes of war. While other nations have been impoverished and made bankrupt, gold and other material standards of wealth have poured in upon us in torrents. With this wealth quite widely distributed and with the journey between Chicago or St. Louis and the North Shore a matter of stepping aboard an air Pullman at night and waking up at some place along the North Shore next morning, travel will be stripped of its discomforts and inconveniences and a great stimulus given to all that pertains to resort prosperity.

We look for a marked increase in summer hotel patronage. The summer hotel had as its root the community idea. The housewife, no matter how large or small her establishment, gets away from the cares of management and is the principal beneficiary in the summer hotel scheme of living. So the summer hotel is bound to increase and prosper.

With an assured peace will come a constantly increasing prosperity. Rev. Dr. Bartol, who was among the first to come down the North Shore shortly after the Civil War and acquire, at bargain prices, much desirable realty, gave utterance to the much quoted remark that "the Lord had made just so much seashore, and that when that was taken up, there could be no more offering." The moral of all this is: buy eligible seashore building sites or homes now. They will never be acquired at more favorable prices.

MAGNOLIA

Returning to Magnolia for another season are Miss Sarah Louise Guild and brother, Mr. Courtney Guild, of Boston. The Guilds formerly occupied the Thornberg cottage on Osman avenue.

Princess Xenia de Waldeck of Russia, who is at the Hotel Oceanside under the chaperonage of Mrs. Thirese Kuhn of Paris, and son Francis V. Byron Kuhn, is visiting at Long Island, N. Y., but is expected back the first of the week.

Miss Gallodet of Providence is the guest of her sister, Mrs. William Closson, at their studio on Flume road.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barry, who are occupying the John Wilkins cottage on Fuller street, entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hall, at Del Monte's the night before the Fourth.

ANNISQUAM.

Henry A. Wise-Wood, the authority on aviation and kindred topics, returned this week from the west, where he has been a witness for the defense in the Ford-Tribune libel suit. He will start the coming week for a cruise in his yacht down the Maine coast as far as Seal Harbor.

Hollis French of Boston and Annisquam will cruise with the Eastern Yacht Club in his schooner yacht recently acquired by him.

Oliver Williams, Jr., of Boston and Annisquam has returned from California, where he has been since February. He motored across the continent in a Ford car to Annisquam, recently.

Prof. Barry MacNutt of Lehigh University and family of South Bethlehem, Penn., have arrived at their cottage at Hermit Ledge.

O. F. Kendall and family of Cambridge have the Graves cottage on Adams road.

William L. Jelly and family of Salem are at their Norwood's Heights home for the season.

Bradbury Huff and family of Manchester, N. H., are at their River road cottage.

Frank H. Howes and family of Newton are among the cottage colony here for the season. Their home is in the Annisquam Heights section.

Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Houghton of Boston have come to their cottage, "Lengthwise," for the season.

Clarence A. Hight and family of Brookline have come for the season to their cottage on Lookout Hill.

Harry B. Duane and family, who have been prominent for the past five years in the social life of this place, will spend the season in Connecticut.

James Guiler and family of Newton Center opened the Wigwam, Norwood's Heights, for the season early in June.

Thomas Hartley and family of Brookline have arrived at the Lord cottage.

George I. Aldrich and family of Cambridge are occupying Spruce cottage, River road.

George C. Andrew and family of Brookline have arrived at their summer home, the Hall cottage, Cambridge avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. F. W. Baldwin of Brookline have arrived at their cottage.

Felton Bent and family of Haverford, Penn., are occupying the old Homestead, near River road.

Quincy Bent of Steelton is occupying the Mellen house.

Eugene A. Bournique and family of Chicago are at their Annisquam summer home.

Joseph N. Damon and family of Newton are among the arrivals. Their cottage is in Cambridge avenue.

Fred L. Cunningham and family are again installed in their Annisquam summer home.

Mrs. Lyman Crawl of Irvington-on-Hudson is at her summer home, the Putnam cottage, Leonard street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Chester Chase of Boston will spend the summer at their Bayberry Ledge cottage.

Rev. Davis W. Clark and family have arrived for the season at their Arlington street cottage.

J. Rush Green and family of Somerville are at their cottage, Washington street.

MANCHESTER.

Funeral services for the late William B. Walker of Chicago were held at the summer home of the family, Highwood, last Saturday. Rev. Neilson P. Carey, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church at Beverly Farms, conducted the service and the music was by a group of boys from the choir of a Boston Episcopal church.

Walter D. Denegre, in charge of the arrangements, was assisted in an honorary capacity by Francis M. Whitehouse, Thomas P. Beal, Washington B. Thomas, Robert S. Bradley, William Hooper, Dr. Hobart A. Warren, Samuel Carr, Neal Rantoul, O. T. Roberts, Thomas P. Beal, Jr., and Robert Fitz.

ANNUAL ROSE SHOW

The annual rose show of the North Shore Horticulturist Society was held Wednesday. While the exhibit was somewhat smaller than usual, the quality of the specimens was par excellent and many of the gardens of the summer colony were represented.

One of the best rose displays was a table of some 25 varieties entered by Miss Mary Bartlett, which was awarded a certificate of merit. Mrs. W. H. Moore competed for SUNDAY'S YACHTING.

But Two Classes Able to Finish Owing to Lack of Wind

Owing to the lack of wind Saturday the race of the Annisquam Yacht Club was postponed until Sunday. Four classes started and two finished, the 15-footers and the Birds. The Cat and Dog classes became becalmed and had to be towed back.

The wind at the start was north-northeast. The Princess, in the 15-footers, got the best of the hopoff. The course, when outside the river, was the usual triangle to Essex buoy, thence across to the turning mark and home.

On the reach to Essex, the Hurrah, sailed by the Commander Wiggin, made the best of the going, turning a minute and three-quarters to the good, with the Tabasco, Jr., second. On the beat across the wind dropped off perceptibly and under these conditions the Tabasco overhauled and passed the Hurrah, increasing its lead on the run home. The Princess, becalmed, withdrew.

The course for the Bird class was down the river, thence to Plum Cove and return, with windward and leeward work from and coming to the lighthouse. Francis Hartley in the Chicadee took the lead and kept it, although closely held by the Squab for a time, the latter being dropped after rounding Plum Cove mark. The summary:

best collection of 12 and 24 varieties, taking first prize in each class.

Mrs. Lester Leland took a first prize for collection of hybrid and perpetual roses, a first prize for best six blossoms of red and a certificate of merit for a collection of roses not in the competition.

The sweet pea display was small but excellent. Mrs. Geo. Dolz, Miss Pauline Croll, Mrs. J. R. McGinley, Mrs. Lester Leland and Mrs. W. H. Moore won prizes in this class. One of the finest exhibits was a magnificent display of glorinias by Mrs. Lester Leland which won a certificate of merit. She was also given a certificate of merit for a table of new geranium of a beautiful salmon pink and named the Hildegarde, after Mr. and Mrs. Leland's daughter.

Mrs. McGinley got first prize for a fine table of delphiniums, and Mrs. W. H. Moore first for a vase of dark blue. A certificate of merit was given Mrs. W. Scott Fitz for a display of roses, carnations and sweet peas. A. C. Burrage made an excellent display of hothouse fruit and was given a certificate for a group of orchids.

Mrs. C. G. Cutting, Mrs. Lester Leland and Mrs. E. S. Grew were prize winners for strawberries. The vegetable display was extensive, among the prize winners in this class being Mrs. C. S. Cutting, Mrs. J. W. Blodgett, Mrs. H. L. Higginson, Mrs. E. S. Grew, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mrs. A. C. Burrage, Mrs. Lester Leland and Mrs. H. S. Grew 2d.

Harmar, William Harmar, Philadelphia.

A much livelier season than usual is planned at the Bass Rocks golf clubhouse. On the night of the Fourth there was the usual informal opening with dancing. Last evening there was a club bridge party participated in by a large number of the colony. Tomorrow, Sunday, a tennis match in mixed doubles is scheduled between Mrs. Wightman, the champion, and Mr. Johnson, with competitors to be determined later than this writing. Every Saturday night there will be dancing continuing up into Labor Day night. Mr. J. F. Smithwick is arranging a tennis schedule for the season.

At the Bass Rocks clubhouse Thursday afternoon Mrs. Edward C. Wilson of the Hawthorne Inn entertained ten of her friends in the colony at tea.

Robert W. Pogue and family of Cincinnati have the McGuckin cottage, Page street, this season.

Late arrivals at the Hawthorne Inn: J. G. Datesman, John Latin, Miss Winifred Latin, P. F. Hodgkins, Woonsocket; Miss Mary Judkins, Boston; Mrs. Allen H. TO MY LADY IN SEARCH OF THE PRACTICAL

Why go farther afield when the greatest variety and unequalled values are to be found in the shops of

GLOUCESTER

EAST GLOUCESTER.

East Gloucester will have the most prosperous season in its history. Like all the Cape Ann resort sections, the story is one of assured prosperity from start to finish.

It is with great regret that THE SHORE notes the passing of Walter H. Osborne, for years, with Mrs. Osborne, managing proprietor of the Harbor View. Mr. Osborne came to this city in 1892 as correspondent of the Boston Herald, which he held for a term of years, relinquishing the position to enter the hotel business. In this vocation he fitted with peculiar aptitude, and the Harbor View became an institution of widely known fame among the resorts of the North Shore. He met and made friends with many notable people. Among his guests were Woodrow Wilson and family, then a professor at Princeton, who came with Prof. Axon, his brother-in-law. The writer was a worker in the journalistic field with Mr. Osborne, and found him ever generous and helpful. It was a pleasure, after a round of the East Gloucester resorts, to retire to his den in the rear of his office and discourse upon happenings in the newspaper and summer resort field. His friends and associates, including the many patrons of the Harbor View, will greatly miss him.

The property has been taken over by John W. Sheedy, who has had experience in the East Gloucester summer resort field and knows the ground well. Mr. Sheedy has made many changes and improvements, which commend themselves to the patrons of the hostelry. Like all the hotels, the Harbor View was well booked early in the spring and the new proprietor enters upon his career under the most encouraging auspices.

The Hawthorne Inn settlement opened June 20 to a large registration, and tonight the house has reached its capacity limit and will continue so until after Labor Day. Fall registrations are most encouraging and the season bids fair to carry on later than usual. If it were not for H. C. L. the hotel proprietors' lot would be a happy one the present season.

Proprietor William A. Publicover, at the Rockaway, opened quite early. The house has been further enlarged, but with every enlargement comes a demand each season for more room, and this pressure is greater this year than ever. Hotel life is becoming more and more popular in this locality and if ever building conditions get within reach of normal conditions, there may be something doing of note in this direction.

At Merrill Hall, the Delphine, Fairview, Beachcroft, Mrs. Mailman's and other hostelries, the same story is told of constant demand for accommodations which ensure practically filled houses throughout the season.

Over at Bass Rocks, the Moorland and Thorwald management tell the same story, success assured from the start. Down at Briar Neck Mr. McIntire of the Good Harbor Beach Inn has practically sold out his house. Not a hard luck story from any hotel source this season.

John Bowler of Worcester, and daughter, Mrs. Raymond Royce of Brookline, are occupying their cottage, Grapevine road.

Alexander Bowler and family of Worcester have arrived at "Twin Light Manor," their summer home in Grapevine Cove.

F. A. Singleton and family of Brookline are occupying their cottage, Atlantic road, Bass Rocks.

The Stanley Cox cottage is occupied this season by Mrs. Gasper of New York.

Mrs. Albert A. Pope and family of Brookline have taken the John P. Hale cottage near the Trestle, Little Good Harbor beach, for the season.

Mrs. D'Arcy Paul has taken the Selden cottage, Bass Rocks, for the season.

Howard R. McNeill and family of Boston are this season occupying the Dr. Broughton cottage, Way road.

Mrs. L. D. Buell of Detroit has taken the Spring cottage.

The Selden cottage this season is occupied by Mrs. D'Arcy Paul of Philadelphia. Her mother, Mrs. Gilman, is with her.

Mrs. A. Steinert of Brookline, whose husband was drowned recently while bathing at Ipswich, will remain at the C. P. Smith cottage, Brightside avenue, for the season.

Joseph O. Proctor, Jr., and family of Milton are at their summer home, corner Brightside avenue and Decatur street, for the season.

Max Talbot and family of Boston are again at their summer home in Decatur street.

Mrs. Arthur Mitton of Brookline has the Tufts cottage this season.

Allen Farmer and family of Brookline came in June to their Decatur street cottage.

Malcolm Farmer and family of New Britain, Conn., were among the first of the month arrivals at their cottage, Page street.

Mrs. F. S. Stoepel of Detroit is occupying her own cottage, Way road.

P. S. Dickson and family of Cambridge have the Way cottage, Traverse street.

A familiar face missed at Bass Rocks this season is H. B. Warner, the actor whose fame persists here as "Jimmie Valentine." His cottage "Alslyn," in Page street, is occupied by Miss Mary E. Doyle of Detroit. California and the movies is the place and reason for Mr. Warner's absence.

Mrs. G. M. Marshall of Brookline has Windemere cottage, Atlantic road, for the season.

A Brookline family here for the season comprises Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Miles in their own cottage, Beach road.

William H. Taylor and family of Yonkers are at their cottage, corner Briar and Souther roads.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS HELD FOR DECEMBER DELIVERY

MY LADY GOES SHOPPING

The shops of Magnolia are more fetching than ever this year. The other day I took my flivver a la mode, and trundled over from Gloucester and when I got home I told my husband that he must take up the plumbing profession or the carpenter trade so that he could hurry up and get rich quick!

I know just where I can buy a love of a hat, a duck of a sweater and a dream of a dress—no, I mean a dream of a "frook." They call them "frocks" over on the Arcade. "Oh, yes, I too have dealt in Arcady!"

The beauty of shopping in Magnolia is that everything is so conveniently next door to everything else. No tiresome questions of East or West to bother about, as in New York, where it is a stunt to steer across Fifth avenue. And no winding Chinese-puzzle-one-way-thoroughfare as in dear old Boston.

The Magnolia shops have a get-to-gether spirit which is a boon to the seeking shopper who finds a maximum of choice with a minimum of effort.

Arriving in Magnolia (which, by the way, is a part of Gloucester so I didn't have to use up much petrol) I was lured by all the dazzling bazaars of yesteryear and then two more.

The newly arrived Fashion Shops are "Farr" and "Collins." "Farr" was formerly of Peck & Peck and has a neat selection, all the trifles the feminine heart holds dear and the masculine purse considers even dearer. But from the point of view of style and value, any well informed judge would consider Farr's things truly reasonable. They have an air and a swing all their own. I thought they were reasonable and every one of them was just what I wanted.

And then I stepped next door to Collins'. There I had the oddest sensation. I thought I was in a dream or at the play. The interior is just like an ultra modern stage set by Robert Jones or somebody like that.

As you enter, you get a sense of harmonic blues—soft murmuring blues and deep striking blues. To be sure there are tones of soft French, brown or buff, but that is just by way of cool contrast. Then there is a sort of alcove with darling little window boxes—all this "within" as they say in Shakespeare—and three beautiful alabaster lamps swing from a softly draped ceiling.

Whether you are in search of style or entertainment, Collins' is well worth investigating. For the feeling you get when you open the door is that you have just come on the scene in a play exquisitely produced, and that the leading lady's favorite color is blue.

Next week I am going to shop some more.

K'KO

DEL MONTE'S, MAGNOLIA.

Del Monte's—formerly the North Shore Grill—opened the season this year on the evening of July 4th with a festive whirl of smart fun.

All the gay World and his Wife were there, as this Restaurant is Le Dernier Cri De Luxe of the North Shore, and the World and his Wife showed their approval, for it was two o'clock before the dancing stopped.

Manager J. P. Del Monte had provided a compelling combination of artists for the evening's entertainment. Russian dances were "done to a turn" by Doria Daslova of Petrograd and Moscow, while Miss Marion Friend did an exquisite bit of work.

A feature of the evening was a Dance of The Peacock with an exotic costume of feathers—peacock feathers of dazzling greens and blues!

All together it was a merry, merry affair and it looks as if Del Monte's were due for a top notch season.

Then they had some really good singing by Frank Savosta of the Metropolitan Opera House, who was accompanied on the piano by his son, a lad of fourteen years. This lad played delightfully several pieces especially composed in his honor.

Then, of course, there was dancing with a 1919 model Jazz band, and that—as we observed before—did not stop until two in the morning.

Among those who had tables reserved for parties of four or more were: Mr. Edward Alsop, Atlanta, Ga., of Manchester, who entertained a party of ten; Mr. Nelson S. Bartlett of Smith's Point, Manchester, with a large party; Mr. Louis Baer of Smith's Point; Mr. Edward K. Arnold of Manchester with a party of seven; Mr. E. R. Anderson of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Rider of the Copley Plaza, Boston; Mrs. Lillian Winslow of Hamilton; Mrs. E. W. Currier of Wenham; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Coulon of Boston; Mr. George Hall of Boston; Mr. C. M. Goodhall of Marblehead, and Mr. Prior, the proprietor of the Hotel Lenox.

Later in the week reservations were made by Mrs. W. A. C. Miller of Bass Rocks with a party of seven; Mr. Olef Olsen of West Newton with a party of four; Mr. and Mrs. Berry, Mr. W. W. Cutler of Bass Rocks; Mr. Dodger with a party of four; Mrs. Brown of Bass Rocks with a party of seven; Mr. Ruby, party of seven; Mrs. Hovey, Major King, party of seven; Mr. Hodges, party of eight; Mr. Wetherold, party of three; Mr. Beeby, party of four; Mrs. Grafton Minot, party of nine.

The opening of Green Gables on the night of July 4th was a brilliant success. The public was welcomed as were the invited guests and the new features of this attractive establishment were noted with enthusiasm.

The North Shore smart set turned out in full force and among those present were many members of the Essex County, Myopia and Manchester Yacht Clubs. Mr. and Mrs. Percy and Mr. and Mrs. George Turmure motored over from Newport to attend the opening.

Green Gables promises to be a point of fashion along the North Shore this season and all who attended the opening expressed themselves as delighted with the atmosphere of the house and with the excellent entertainment furnished by the charming hostess, Miss Flora Voorhees of New York.

THE TAVERN.

The Tavern, opened three years ago under the management of the proprietor, W. Harry Smith, is doing a record business. This artistic hostelry on the site of the burned Surfside, overlooking Gloucester Bay, has earned a fine reputation for itself, especially as a dining place for automobilists.

LUFKIN'S SODA SPA.

A new and one of the finest appointed soda fountain establishments on the North Shore has been opened by Fred Lufkin near the Belmont Hotel, Main street. Nothing has been spared to make it attractive. The interior fittings are in mahogany and of pleasing and artistic design. Everything pertaining to the place is first class and it promises to take a position as one of the leading establishments of its kind.

BASS ROCKS AND EASTERN POINT.

That is, just good enough not to knock the life out of their own tires and motors, and yet not so good as to attract the tires and motors of exploring tourists. For the Cottage Dwellers of Eastern Point believe in intensive cultivation. They are exclusive. Oh, very!

Now along comes the City Of Gloucester and remarks, in an expansive mood, that while the Cottage Dwellers of Eastern Point may properly be as exclusive as they please, their roads may not!

For these roads belong to the City Of Gloucester which knows no caste and has an equal smile for all its sons and daughters. The Cottage Dwellers of Eastern Point have been arguing this point. It grieves them to have their ownership disputed after all these unsuspecting years.

It will be interesting to the neutrals to follow some of these arguments.

MANCHESTER.

The season in Manchester has opened with a rush this year, and practically every summer cottage on the shore is now occupied for the season. Quite a number of cottages that have been unoccupied for several seasons are open, and everything presages the liveliest year that has been seen on this shore in a long time.

Among the arrivals are Mrs. Allen Sheldon of Philadelphia, who has "Elwood," the summer home of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wood at Singing Beach; J. J. Phelan of Boston, who has the Cobb cottage on Masconomo st.; Mrs. George Hall of Boston, near the Essex County Club; George P. Grinnell of New York, at the Clarke cottage, West Manchester; the Richard H. Danas, at Dana's Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mitchell of Buffalo, N. Y., at the R. M. Bradley cottage, Smith Point.

Lieut. Charles Burnett Bradley has leased the Charles W. Ward cottage on Sea st., although the Lieutenant and Mrs. Bradley are still in Rome, where he is an attache of the United States Legation. Their children, in care of their grandmother, will summer here.

Mrs. J. Warren Merrill has been making a visit in Bar Harbor.

Mrs. John Graham, whose husband died at Palm Beach, is to pass the summer at her cottage, which has been closed for some time.

The R. D. Skinner cottage on University lane has been leased to Mrs. F. A. Parkhurst of Cleveland, who is now located there for the summer.

The minister from the Netherlands, Jacob T. Cremer, and family have arrived at the Hawks estate, West Manchester, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wigglesworth are at their cottage, Old Neck, Manchester.

The North Shore promises to be a busy place during the present season in social affairs. At the Myopia Hunt Club at Hamilton there will be a number of interesting pony polo games, tennis matches and golf. The Montserrat Golf Club is also planning for a busy season.

Among the newcomers to Prides Crossing this season are Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin of New York City. They are to have the Alexander Cockran estate.

Miss Constance Peabody has joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln R. Peabody of New York City, at Parramatta, after a visit with friends in Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Edward Wigglesworth will spend the remainder of the summer at her estate at Jackson, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Adamowski are located for the summer at West Manchester.

New York has a representative colony at Pride's Crossing, where four prominent families from the metropolis have cottages this season within a stone's throw of one another. The William K. Vanderbilt, Jr.'s, have taken the Wichfeld summer home, known as Swiftmoor. This is their first season at Beverly. Judge William H. Moore is the next-door neighbor, at Rockmarge; Henry Clay Frick is at Eagle Rock, and across the avenue on the shore the C. Oliver Iselins have the Cochrane cottage for the season. There are more persons from the South and West on the Beverly shore this season than ever before, and there is not a vacant cottage in the colony.

Mrs. Roger Cutter, with her three children, is spending the summer season with her father, Robert Stow Bradley, at Pride's Crossing.

Rev. William R. Sullivan of All Souls Church, New York City, will preach at First Unitarian Church, Masconomo street, during July.

Smith, Detroit; Mrs. Matthew Semple, Miss Helen Semple, Philadelphia; Mr. Eric W. McDonald of New York; Miss Josephine Hondlow, Morristown, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Palmer New York; Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Booth Crossman, Washington; Mrs. E. W. Bently, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. James Green and Mrs. A. Moore Hess of New York.

The death of Mr. Claude Kilpatrick of St. Louis will be learned with regret by his many acquaintances along the coast. Mr. Kilpatrick was a summer resident of Magnolia for many years and was among the first to have a tally-ho on the North Shore. Always a great lover of horses it was only comparatively a few years ago that Mr. Kilpatrick consented to own an automobile, still retaining his string of horses. Mr. Kilpatrick is survived by his wife and daughter.

Miss Margaret L. Corlies, with her mother, Mrs. S. Fisher Corlies of Boston, opened "Att-Lea," her home on Fuller street, the first of April, and has enjoyed her spring at Magnolia so much that she plans doing so again next season. Miss Corlies recently returned to Magnolia from the Shaw-Van Winkle wedding in Boston.

The North Shore Swimming Pool officially opened on the 4th of July with the customary buffet luncheon which was largely attended by members of the club and their friends. Dancing was enjoyed after the luncheon and tea was served on the broad veranda which has been transformed this season into a charming sun-porch.

Mrs. Georgianna Lord Buckley and son, B. Lord Buckley of New York City, will spend a portion of the month of July at Magnolia.

The list of ministers who will conduct the service at Union Chapel on Flume road for the summer of 1919 include: June 30, Rev. Dr. Walter S. Eaton, Magnolia; July 6, Rev. Edw. Tillotson, Swampscott; July 13, Rev. Dr. Wadsworth, Philadelphia; July 20, Rev. John Matteson, Whitman, Mass.; July 27, Rev. Abbot Patterson, Brookline, Mass.; Aug. 3, Rev. William H. Dewart, Brookline; Aug. 10, Rev. Harold G. Arnold, West Roxbury; Aug. 17, Rev. Phillip E. Osgood, Philadelphia, Pa.; Aug. 24, Rev. Sam. H. Dana, Exeter, N. H.; Aug. 31, The Rev. Ernest J.
